Welcome to Navajoland!

Spanning more than 27,000 square miles across southeastern Utah, northwestern New Mexico and northeastern Arizona - the Navajo Nation features breathtaking landscapes, action and adventure, a rich history, and the proud culture of North America’s largest indigenous tribe.

Established by a United States Treaty in 1868, the Navajo Nation is managed as a sovereign country through agreements with the United States Congress. More than 250,000 people live within the Navajo Nation’s borders, blending traditions with modern elements to create a vital society that continues to evolve in fascinating ways.

As a tourist destination, the Navajo Nation offers something for everyone. Ride through Monument Valley on horseback. Stay for a week on a houseboat on Lake Powell. Collect amazing artwork – from symbolic handwoven rugs, baskets, pottery to exquisite turquoise and silver jewelry!

Make plans today to embrace the spectacular history and stunning vistas of the Navajo Nation!
